

KCML mission offerings 2018

Listening in mission

Following feedback from 2017 participants, Knox Centre for Ministry and Leadership invites ministry practitioners into a listening in mission practical learning course. Listening is an active process, in which we grow by doing. It begins with action, stepping into the space of another. It proceeds by "double listening" - to God and people. Online technologies will support ministers in undertaking a practical project in their community. As a result, a spirituality of presence, community building, attentiveness, discernment, experimentation is encouraged. Listening in Mission sets up the next KCML offer - Experimenting in Mission.

Participants commit to 6 online sessions with ministry colleagues and KCML team. Together we will listen to Scripture, clarify expectations, integrate pre-reading, share advice in difficulties and celebrate progress. This builds collegiality in mission. The first session (Aug 23) is a free, try-before-you-buy outline of process + project.

Participants to commit to a practical local project, gathering a team to engage in provided local listening exercises. This ensures practical, local learning.

2017 PARTICIPANTS SAID

"really helpful";
"practical";
"encouraging";
"inclusive";
"another follow-on please"

Dates

Thursdays 4:45-6:15 pm
Aug 23 (info only)
Sept 6 (Mission as gift)
Sept 27 (Presence)
Oct 11 (Cultivate)
Nov 1 (Discern)
Nov 22 (Celebrate)

Cost

$200 for course resources. Another $100
if participants want KCML feedback on
written project.
Possible subsidies
available

Steve Taylor
Principal KCML, Church planter and minister

Rosemary Dewerse
Missionary, lecturer, researcher

12
places only

Booking and queries to:
[principal@knox
centre.ac.nz](mailto:principal@knoxcentre.ac.nz)
022 155 2427

Practical Local Accessible
Together